FEATURED PROGRAM - PEER SUPPORT

Wellspring's volunteers embody the wisdom and experience of having cancer, and are available at Wellspring to help other members deal with the many challenges the diagnosis can cause.

Wellspring Chinguacousy salutes all of our volunteers and would like to especially mention our Peer Support Volunteers. When you have cancer, you want to speak to someone who understands. Our Peer Support Volunteers have experienced cancer and are here to help. They've been specially trained to assist you in your journey, to offer comfort and to allow you an opportunity to speak freely. Many of our members become Peer Support volunteers so they know Wellspring programs and services first hand. Perhaps you would like to become a Peer Support Volunteer.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM OTHER WELLSPRING CENTRES

Wellspring announces the latest addition to the Money Matters Program:

The New Financial Advice Clinic

There are many cancer patients who face tough financial decisions while coping with money worries at the same time as having cancer.

"I'm on Long Term Disability and my income is only 65% of when I was working. I'm having trouble meeting my mortgage payments. What options should I consider?"

"My budget is way beyond my monthly income. Should I use my RRSPs to try and get by financially? Is this a good option?"

"I can no longer manage my debts. Should I file for bankruptcy?"

"I'm starting to get back on my feet after cancer. Should I consider getting some insurance coverage?"

To help Wellspring members gain access to helpful information related to financial concerns, Wellspring has established the Financial Advice Clinic. Members will have the opportunity to meet one-on-one with an expert Financial Advisor to discuss their financial concerns and options to help.

Building on the success of other Money Matters clinics (Wills, Income Tax, Long Term Disability and Employment Law), Wellspring is pleased to offer this additional resource to members of the Money Matters program. All the Financial Advisors at the clinic have been screened and oriented to Wellspring and its members' needs. They are volunteering their time, and are eager to support cancer patients. No solicitation of financial products, or other fee-based services, is part of this clinic. This clinic is a first – for Wellspring, and for cancer patients. It's another way the Money Matters program strives to help cancer patients at a time when money worries can be at their highest.

To learn more about the clinic and booking an appointment, please contact the Money Matters program at: 416.961.1928

Location: 4 Charles Street East, 4th Floor, Toronto, Ontario
